

GIANT A-BLAST SHAKES 150-MILE AREA

About Town And Country

By TIMOTHY T.

THIS STORY merits relating: Ed and Maude Martin and Mrs. Martin's son, Harry Eugene Moore, went to the state basketball tournament at Champaign.

I suppose all of you know how the ticket situation is for the four days of the prep finals. There are approximately 7,000 seats and at least 30,000 persons would gladly go to a session if they could get in.

The local threesome made the trip to the tournament without tickets, trusting to their good fortune to get seats, session by session.

And, as luck would have it, they were able to secure seats to each session. But by Saturday afternoon, the day of the semi-finals, things were really tough.

They managed to pick up two tickets but that was all. It was decided that Mrs. Martin and Harry Eugene would take the tickets and that Ed would stay on the outside, doing his best to pick up one for himself.

So they made arrangements where they would meet after the session and Maude and Harry Eugene went on into the big gymnasium.

They were sitting there, waiting for the game to start, when Ed comes in and is ushered to his seat—right next to where his wife and Harry Eugene were sitting.

JIM TANNER, who works at The Daily Register office, is the only coin collector in Harrisburg.

Young Tanner, who is interested in the hobby of collecting coins, came over to my desk yesterday and said that he would like to learn the names of some other coin collectors in Harrisburg but did not know how to go about finding them out.

Did I have any suggestions? he asked.

My best suggestion was the above, to say that he is the only coin collector in Harrisburg. Then others who are collectors can let him know that they are collectors, too.

HUMOR DEPT.: He: Did you hear about the guy who operated on himself?

Him: Yes, some guys will take a stab at anything.

New Freedom in Japan Discussed By Native Woman

Mrs. Louise Freedie, a native of Japan and wife of local army recruiting sergeant, George Freedie, gave a very interesting talk at the Rotary club luncheon meeting yesterday in the Masonic temple.

Following her brief remarks, Mrs. Freedie graciously answered the many questions asked of her about Japan, its customs and people. She was introduced by John Foster.

Speaking of the changes in her native country since 1945, Mrs. Freedie said there is much more freedom, especially for the women. But, she added, youth of the country sometimes take the freedom for wrong, feeling that it permits them to do most anything.

She left the impression that the freedom was good for her people but that it would take time for them to adjust to the responsibilities that came with this new freedom.

In Japan, she related, it has always been the custom for the woman to wait on the man, walk a step behind him in public and, in general, to be subservient to him. Since 1945, this has changed, although many of the older people continue the custom.

Co-education is now being practiced in Japan through the junior high grades, the speaker said.

Mrs. Freedie's warm personality and polite mannerisms made her a most charming speaker. She answered numerous questions and before concluding her program, sang two songs in her native tongue.

President Foster, who served in Japan following the end of hostilities, exhibited several carved objects which he had purchased there.

Prior to the program, Russell Malan spoke briefly on behalf of a bond issue for rebuilding the Junior high school building.

To Build Service Station On Rt. 45

A new service station and restaurant building on Route 45 just northeast of Harrisburg was scheduled to be under construction soon.

It will be built on land owned by J. Cecil Sullivan adjacent to the Ellis Trucking Co. terminal and will be sold to the Cities Service Co. upon completion.

The building, to be constructed by Midland Construction Co., will be of masonry construction with enameled front and sides.

Dulles Urges Senate to Okay German Treaties

Says Arming West Germany Will Enhance Progress for Peace

By United Press

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today arming of West Germany will enhance hope of progress toward peace in a big-power meeting.

The secretary urged the Senate Foreign Relations committee to approve quickly the German rearmament treaties which already have been ratified at Paris and Bonn.

The committee and the Senate are expected to do so later this week.

He said final ratification of the treaties making West Germany a part of the European defense system would make it possible to meet with Russia "with greater hope."

Dulles said there have been no talks so far with Russia about the prospects of a "Big Four" meeting. Apparently referring to U. S., British-French discussions on the subject, he said there has been "only parleying about parleying."

Other congressional news:

Pay: The Senate Armed Services committee unanimously approved a 745-million-dollar military pay raise bill. It is scheduled for Senate debate Wednesday with quick approval predicted. The House has passed it.

Charge: Rep. Charles E. Bennett (D-Fla.) said he had been told that "large contributors" to the Republican party in Cadillac, Mich., had induced defense officials to switch an air base site from Benzie County, Mich., to Cadillac.

Bennett relayed the charge at a meeting of a House Armed Services subcommittee. He turned down Republican demands that he name its source. Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.) of the full committee said he had no intention of investigating the accusation. He called it "rumor."

Highways: Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. gave his "wholehearted approval" to President Eisenhower's highway program. He said there are no serious legal objections to sale of bonds by a new federal corporation to help finance it.

Welfare Funds: Louis B. Saperstein of South Orange, N. J., was called before a Senate Labor subcommittee for a second day of questioning about his lucrative dealings as an insurance broker with union welfare funds. The subcommittee has heard testimony that Saperstein made about 1-million dollars in commissions from two AFL affiliates over a six-year period. He invoked the Fifth Amendment Monday and refused to answer questions about $800,000 in premiums which were sent to him for the fund.

Obscene Matter: The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to prohibit interstate transportation of obscene matter by private vehicle. It already is a crime to ship such material by mail or common carrier.

Ask Damages; Claim Illegal Arrest

Eldorado Police Chief George Brown today was sued by a father and son who charged the son was arrested without due process of law and held in the Eldorado city jail from Feb. 11 to March 3.

The complaint, Donald L. Watson, a minor, by his father, Athel Watson, Eldorado, vs. George Brown, was filed by Atty. Lloyd H. Melton.

Besides charging illegal arrest, the complaint, on file here in circuit court, charges inadequate food and bedding and asks for $10,000 damages.

The record reveals that young Watson was transferred from Eldorado to the Saline county jail about March 3 and that he was picked up by military authorities and returned to Camp Chaffee, Ark., as an absentee from the post.

Orient Mine 2 To Reopen; 1 to Close Permanently

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill. (UP)—The Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal Company's Orient No. 2 mine near here will resume production soon.

The company's Chicago office announced today the mine will be reopened after being shut down for repairs since Feb. 25.

At the same time, the company announced Orient No. 1 mine will be closed permanently at the end of the third shift Wednesday. The company said coal reserves at No. 1 have been depleted after more than 40 years of operation. In that time, about 40 million tons of coal were mined from Orient No. 1.

Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin said it is expanding production at Orient No. 3 mine near Waltonville as rapidly as possible. The goal is production of 14,000 tons per day which will be double present production. It is expected the number of miners employed at No. 3 will be increased as production expands.

Nationwide Mock H-Bomb Attacks in June

WASHINGTON (UP)—A mock hydrogen bomb attack on 50 U. S. cities will send thousands, including the President, scurrying for shelter in a nationwide Civil Defense test June 15-16.

During the test 15,000 federal employees will be evacuated from the nation's capital. They will operate the government from secret headquarters in a half dozen states from points 35 to 200 miles from Washington.

The White House said the President may participate in the government relocation to the extent of leaving town briefly, but details have not been completely worked out.

The test, labeled "Operation Alert, 1955" will begin at 11 a. m. EST June 15 and continue until 1 p. m. June 16. In addition to U. S. points, attacks will be made on cities in Alaska, Puerto Rico, Hawaii and Panama.

The first nationwide Civil Defense test was held last June.

The new test will involve unannounced simulated attacks on several cities. Their identity will not be made known prior to the start of the Civil Defense exercise. They will be hit "with a nuclear equivalent of 20,000 to 5-million tons of TNT."

The joint announcement of the test was made by Civil Defense administrator Val Peterson and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Fleming. They said the attack on 43 cities will determine the readiness of a "near saturation assault" on three industrial sections of the Northeast, the Midwest and the Pacific Coast.

Cities will be given a minimum of two hours and a maximum of three hours and 26 minutes warning. Cities with evacuation plans will be able to test their plans during this period.

Actually all 92 cities listed as critical target areas by the Civil Defense Administration will be involved. Those that are not directly attacked were urged to be ready either for a bombing attack or to render support and relief to areas under attack.

The cities which definitely will be subjected to simulated attack include: Chicago; St. Louis; Flint, Mich.; and Fort Wayne and Gary, Ind.

The seven cities which will be subjected to simulated attack without prior announcement will be selected from a list including: Peoria, Ill.; Indianapolis, South Bend, Evansville, Ind.; Davenport, Iowa; Detroit, Dearborn, Grand Rapids, Mich.; and Kansas City, Mo.

The record reveals that young Watson was transferred from Eldorado to the Saline county jail about March 3 and that he was picked up by military authorities and returned to Camp Chaffee, Ark., as an absentee from the post.

Leaders Support Stratton Sales Tax Proposal

Powell Wants Funds Earmarked for Schools, Welfare

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. William G. Stratton's plan to meet Illinois school and welfare needs by hiking the sales tax a penny drew almost solid support today from legislative leaders.

But some lawmakers differed with him on details of the program. And a retailers' organization served notice it will wage a campaign in the Capitol to defeat a sales tax boost, in any form.

Stratton asked the Legislature in his budget message Monday to increase the tax a penny for one year. He said the funds would be used solely for "greatly increased" school and mental hospital needs.

Immediate opposition came from Joseph T. Meek, head of the Illinois Federation of Retail Associations and the Republican candidate for U. S. senator last year.

"We oppose increasing the sales tax because we know better than anyone else the narrow difference between the average retailer's volume and his expenses," Meek said. "Any decline in volume could have serious repercussions."

However, top leaders of both legislative houses, Democrat as well as Republican, indicated their support of a tax hike to finance school and welfare needs.

House Majority Leader John W. Lewis Jr. (R-Marshall) termed a penny sales tax increase for one year "sound," compared with some suggestions for a half-cent hike for two years.

Lewis said a penny hike would "raise enough money" in a year "without the complications" that would be caused by a half-cent boost.

However, Lewis added "my prediction is that it will be reinstated again next session," in 1957. Others echoed him.

Democratic leaders said they backed the tax increase but some questioned whether proceeds should be specifically earmarked for school and welfare use only.

"If the governor means what he says about using the money only for schools and welfare, I can't see why he refused to earmark it," said Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna).

Powell said "I don't think it's smart to put the penny on for one year." He said the tax hike should be continued for two years, so the state can "really do a good job" for schools and mental hospitals.

The influential southern Illinois Democrat took occasion to charge Stratton broke a 1952 campaign promise when he asked for a sales tax hike and a "use" tax on out-of-state purchases in his budget message.

"In at least 40 speeches he said there would be no tax increases in his administration, and now he has recommended two," Powell said.

Congressman Gray Here April 4

Congressman Kenneth Gray of West Frankfort, representing the 25th Illinois district, will make a report to the voters of this area at a meeting scheduled for the court house in Harrisburg Monday, April 4, at 7:30 p. m.

Steve Mitchell, Saline county Democratic chairman, stated that it was probable that Paul Powell, representative and state-wide Democratic leader would attend, as would L. Oard Sitter, Democratic committeeman from the 25th district.

Township candidates, Democratic committeemen and leaders and all others who wish to hear Congressman Gray are invited to attend.

GFWC Continues Drive for Bald Knob Funds Despite Connecticut Complaints

WASHINGTON (UP)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs has no intention of letting complaints from its Connecticut branch change its plans to erect the world's largest cross atop an Illinois mountain.

Mrs. Theodore S. Chapman, federation president, adopted the philosophical approach that "you can't please all of the people"—let alone 11 million clubwomen—all of the time.

Mrs. Clifford A. Teeple, president of the Connecticut state federation, complained Saturday that the plan was a "spiritual misappropriation."

Mrs. Teeple, who urged other state federation clubs to join her protest, said "Christian unity and efforts can best be affirmed by service to mankind." She said it was "presumptuous" to erect a symbol of one faith "since our nation is one of many faiths."

Mrs. Chapman said he received

Harrisburg, Carrier Mills Lions Greet Governor at Joint Meeting

Members of the Harrisburg and Carrier Mills Lions clubs held a joint meeting at Carrier Mills Monday night to welcome Harry J. Trotter, district governor of Lions district 1C, on an official visit to this area.

Governor Trotter, superintendent of the Odd Fellows Home at Lincoln, has been active in community service work for many years.

The theme of his talk was service to others and he closed his address with the statement, "A man or woman never stands so straight as when stooped to help someone in distress—your greatest pleasure is the pleasure you give others."

Until February of this year Mr. Trotter was a resident of East St. Louis. At that time he retired from business and accepted the position of superintendent of the children's home.

In East St. Louis he was a member of the Salvation Army board.

During his years of community service he has seen many people, especially youngsters, aided by service groups. In discussing juvenile delinquency, Gov. Trotter declared "children are not born bad, they are made bad" and placed the problems of children at the doorstep of the adults.

Lack of family life was cited as the chief cause of juvenile delinquency.

"We need to spend more time with our children. Most kids are given too much freedom, too much time to get in trouble.

"Give your children some of your time, play with them. Children want to be loved, want attention, need to know someone cares for them. Children who receive care, love and attention from their parents won't get into trouble," the speaker stated.

Touching on the subject of Lionsism, Gov. Trotter stated there are Lions clubs in 66 countries with a membership of more than 509,000. This membership represents men of all faiths working together for the betterment of their communities.

Stressing that all civic and service clubs, including the Lions, are for community betterment, he urged his listeners to give their wholehearted support to projects that would benefit the underprivileged.

The meeting was held at the Carrier Mills Masonic temple with approximately 60 in attendance. It was a Ladies' night with Lions and their wives from both Harrisburg and Carrier Mills in attendance.

Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Omar Hobbs, Eldorado jewelry. He is deputy district governor of District 1C.

Harry Fife, president of the Carrier Mills club, was master of ceremonies. R. C. "Stopper" Adams is president of the Harrisburg club.

The slayings were "the work of a maniac," he said.

The killer invaded a farm home Monday, bound the two men and two women in the house and shot them.

The murder victims were G. B. Duncan, 60; his son, Raymond, 19; and a daughter-in-law Mrs. Dorris Ray Duncan, Mrs. Mamie Duncan, 51, wife of G. B. Duncan, was shot and critically wounded. She was near death today in a hospital here.

Police said Duncan and his son were found in an Ohio River bog with their hands tied behind their backs. They had been shot in the back of the head. Neither of the women had been raped, but the sheriff said they may have been molested.

Police said their hands had been bound with lamp cord and their dresses had been ripped half off their bodies.

The two year old daughter of the younger Mrs. Duncan was uninjured. She was found lying on the bed beside the body of her mother.

Raymond's wife was in the hospital when the attack occurred. She had given birth to a boy Sunday. She heard the news of her husband's death on a news broadcast.

Sheriff Williams said the slayings were similar to the murder of a farm housewife which occurred recently at Mt. Vernon, Ind., 20 miles away.

The only clue in the Duncan slayings was the report of neighbors that a black car with Indiana license plates had been seen near the Duncan home Monday morning when the murders were committed.

Senator Attacks Religious Life Of Eisenhower

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—A bitter personal attack on President Eisenhower's religious and political life by a U. S. senator forced CIO United Auto Workers to postpone until today a vote on their proposed strike fund.

An early vote had been planned Monday night by delegates at the UAW's 15th annual constitutional convention on the proposal to triple monthly dues to $7.50 from the present $2.50 to raise a $25,000,000 strike reservoir.

The delegates decided to delay the vote after Sen. Matthew M. Neely (D-W.Va.) gave the President an hour-long tongue lashing in a convention speech.

"Eisenhower never joined a church until after he became President," Neely charged. "Since then his attendance at church has been well publicized."

"Away with hypocrisy," Neely charged, "if that is an unfair statement they can make the most of it."

The President's foreign and domestic policies also came in for criticism from the West Virginia Democrat. He charged Mr. Eisenhower with being an "Alice in Wonderland" and compared the present administration with the Tower of Babel. He called it an "everlasting monument to confusion."

He described the President as "first in war, but he is also first in confusion and first in repudiating campaign promises."

"He was unqualified when he was nominated, unqualified when he was elected," said Neely, "and he has demonstrated every day since that he doesn't know where he is going or what he's going to do when he gets there."

PRESIDENT IS SINCERE IN FAITH, MINISTER SAYS

DENVER (UP)—The pastor who preached to the President during two vacations in Denver defended Mr. Eisenhower today as a man "sincere in his faith."

The Rev. Robert S. Lutz replied to Sen. Matthew Neely (D-W.Va.) who suggested that the President was hypocritically making political capital out of going to church although before his election he belonged to no organized religious faith.

Ella Mick, 89, died yesterday at 11 a. m. She was the widow of Charley Mick who died 25 years ago and resided at 27-1-2 West Poplar.

She was born in Brushy and had been ill for several years and bedfast for the past three weeks.

Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Ollie Abney, Peoria, Mrs. Dollie Attnip, Lawrence, Kansas, Mrs. Ruth Minton, Harrisburg, 12 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren; and two brothers, Lon Travelstead, Harrisburg, and Irvin Travelstead, Carrier Mills. Two sons preceded her in death.

The time of the funeral service is not known but burial will be in the Spring Grove cemetery near Jordan curve in Williamson county.

The body will lie in state at the Harrisburg funeral home.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Washington's annual cherry blossom festival opened today with about 40 per cent of the blossoms damaged by wind and cold.

'Baby' Device Also Dropped From Plane

Vesuvius-Like Force Cracks Ceiling 75 Miles Away

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—Two atomic bombs were exploded in a single day today for the first time in Nevada test history—one a whopper so powerful it split a ceiling 75 miles away and the other a "baby" air-burst of an undisclosed secret weapon in America's expanding nuclear arsenal.

First the Atomic Energy Commission triggered in the pre-dawn darkness the mightiest blast of 1955 testing, estimated as packing the punch of 25,000 tons of TNT, the kick of the bombs that leveled Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

It was noticeably felt over a 150-mile radius in three Western states, the AEC reported.

This was from a 500-foot tower in the Nevada Proving Range at 4:55 a. m. PST. Its shock wave, as though from a Vesuvius eruption, roared 75 miles into Las Vegas and cracked a ceiling, the first report of A-bomb damage in the 1955 experiments.

Flash Seen Only a Moment

Five hours and five minutes later, an Air Force B36 flying at 15,000 feet dropped a compact device in the "baby" A-bomb class. It burst at 10 a. m. PST at an unannounced height over the desert range with a force unofficially rated at some 5,000 tons of TNT.

The white flash of the air burst was seen in Las Vegas, lasting for less than a second, or a "small instant," observers said.

The exact nature of neither of today's devices was detailed by the AEC.

The pre-dawn "whopper," unofficially rated as having a kick of 25,000 tons of TNT, was touched off amid the most elaborate military and civil defense test setting ever staged in five years of experiments here with nuclear fission.

A Schoolroom Blast

It was a "schoolroom" test for soldiers, Marines and the Defense Department's air arms. Experiments covered 67 categories.

Its Vesuvius-like force rolled 75 miles across the desert and an intervening mountain range to crack the ceiling in the ladies' room of the Southern California Telephone Co. office building here, the AEC reported.

Although it was half the strength of the most power-laden bomb ever detonated in Nevada—a 50 kiloton (50,000 tons of TNT) weapon in 1953—it was noticeably felt in St. George, Utah; Caliente, Nev.; and Inyokern, Calif., a radius of roughly 150 miles.

This was the official "shock radius" given by the AEC.

Sometimes shock wave bounces off the stratosphere and skips for hundreds of miles. Thus, in Los Angeles, Wilshire district, 350 miles distant, Gardner Rust reported he felt the blast 26 minutes after detonation time.

Alarms Set Off

The shock touched off half the burglar alarms in Las Vegas.

The giant "flashbulb" effect of the explosion lighted the dark skies of four Western states—California, Arizona, Utah and Nevada—over a 400-mile radius. Weather ceilings and snow clouds shut off some skies in the West.

A mushroom cloud loaded with radioactive particles shot skywards to 30,000 feet in five minutes, then was sheared by varied direction winds and sent separate ways in three sections.

The stem of the cloud, containing most of the radioactive dirt, veered off in a northerly direction, while the center section traveled south-southeast toward the Las Vegas vicinity and the mushroom cap sailed toward the east at 50 knots.

Methodist Sunday School to Move to New Building Wednesday

Wednesday has been designated as moving day for the First Methodist Sunday school.

During the past year while the new building was under construction, the Sunday school has been conducted in the Horace Mann school building and the Orpheum theatre.

Announcement was made Sunday by the Rev. W. L. Cummins that Sunday school would be held in the education building of the new church Palm Sunday, April 3.

Special effort is being made to round up all hymnals, chairs and other items belonging to the church now stored elsewhere or loaned out.

All who can aid in the moving project have been requested to meet at the church Wednesday at 5:30. An important official board meeting will follow the moving.

Tremendous Assignment

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

President Eisenhower's creation of a new cabinet post—a presidential assistant for disarmament—is perhaps the most far-seeing move he has made on the world political stage since his celebrated 1953 proposal for a world sharing of atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

We Americans know that we are not warmongers and never have been. But our great strength and our constant stress on military preparedness against the undiminished threat of communism appear to have given many foreigners the wrong impression.

Naturally, the Reds have done
all they could to foster this impression by shouting to the world that they are peaceful and we are bent on war.

The President's atoms-for-peace plan had about it the kind of bold imagination that is the mark of real statesmanship. It struck the world with terrific moral impact, and showed many millions what America is actually like. Even Russia could not ignore it, but was forced to give lip service to the idea.

Yet the notion persists in many places that this country expects and wants a great war between the free nations and the enslaved Communist lands.

In truth Mr. Eisenhower again and again in recent months has stressed how ruinous another world war would be. The H-bomb has made peace and civilization's survival synonymous.

That is why he and many other Americans believe that while we cannot let down our defense guard, we must at the same time tirelessly explore every conceivable approach to world disarmament.

Clearly it is time for fresh and important thinking in this field.
The formulas for the last decade have led us to a stonewall. In creating the new cabinet post at this most opportune time, Mr. Eisenhower recognizes this necessity.

Harold Stassen, the new assistant for disarmament, will be charged properly with developing broad studies and conclusions which will become new, basic American policy on this vital subject.

This is a tremendous assignment.
He will need to assemble some of the highest talents in America.
Knowing how grim the alternative to effective disarmament may be, we can only pray that somehow he and his associates will prove equal to the task.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Ike Surpasses FDR in Cracking Down On Congress; Sen.
George Changed His Position
On Taxes Because Of Coca-
Cola; Sen. McCarthy Stays Put Because Of GOP Boss In Wisconsin.

WASHINGTON. — They used to talk about a rubber-stamp Congress in Roosevelt's day, but nothing in FDR's day ever equalled the clocklike efficiency with which Eisenhower forces now whip GOP senators into line on important votes.

Not only is the Eisenhower machine efficient when it comes to Republican senators, but even with some Democrats. It is, of course, important that a President keep his Congress in line. So let's see how the machinery works.

The technique is chiefly one of getting on the long-distance telephone from the White House to key political backers or contributors in the senators' states or the congressmen's districts. Take, for instance, what happened during the battle over taxes.

To win, Republican leaders needed almost every GOP senator, plus a few Democrats. So here is what happened:

Sherman Adams, assistant president, got on the telephone to Gov.
Robert Kennon of Louisiana, a Dixiecrat Democrat who voted for Ike. Adams asked Kennon to contact other governors to pressure their own congressmen; also to pressure Senator Ellender of Louisiana, a Democrat.

Kennon knew where some of the big campaign contributions were made in Ellender's recent re-election campaign. In the end Ellender found himself, a life-long Democrat, voting with the Republicans.

His sudden conversion was unexpected, for Ellender claims he's a great defender of the little man and the tax payer. But though Senate leaders Lyndon Johnson and Earle Clements spent hours pleading with their colleague from Louisiana, Ellender voted against his own party and with the big oil companies and Dixiecrat Governor Kennon. (He has five and a half years before he has to face the little voters who elected him.)

JOE COMES TO HEEL

Another senator who was wavering was Joe McCarthy. Joe is so sore at the Eisenhower administration that he will vote against them on anything that will hurt—especially if it will also help him back home.

However, it took just one phone call from Washington to change
Joe. That call went to Tom Coleman, big wheel of the Republican party in Wisconsin. Coleman has saved McCarthy politically more than once and may have to save him again.

So Tom called Joe and Joe came to heel. He voted with the man he hates—Eisenhower.

Another Republican who planned to vote for the $20 tax cut was hard-working Milton Young of North Dakota, whose farm voters are Republican in name but lean heavily toward liberal Democratic policies. The minute it became known Young was going to desert GOP ranks, however, the pressure was turned on from Washington.

Young has had generous support from some of the big grain companies, and the final tally found him voting against the tax interest of the little taxpayer in North Dakota.

HUMPHREY JUMPS

Most significant of all was the way the Ike machine worked on kindly Senator George of Georgia,
a big wheel on the Finance committee and a man with tax prestige in the U. S. Senate.

Last summer George himself proposed to increase personal exemption for dependents from $600 to $800, with an increase up to $1-000 later. This would have cost the Treasury $4,200,000,000 the first year, plus more if the $1,000 went in later.

The $20 tax cut, on the other hand, would have cost the Treasury only $2,300,000,000. Furthermore, Senate Democrats had patched up a compromise whereby most of this was made up by plugging other tax loopholes.

Senator George himself sat in on the conferences by which this compromise was worked out. In fact he suggested some of the most important moves, one of them being the extension of excise and corporation taxes six months beyond the period proposed by the Treasury. There was every indication, as George talked to his colleagues, that he would vote for the compromise that he helped to formulate.

But on Saturday certain details of the compromise leaked to the press. It also leaked that George had participated in the conference. This leak, later traced to the assistant of Senator Smathers of Florida, was the Democrats' greatest mistake. It was a twofold mistake, first because it tipped off GOP leaders that they had lost Senator George; second because the leak mistakenly gave Smathers credit for certain parts of the compromise when credit really belonged to George. (Smathers had nothing to do with the news leak, however.)

COCA-COLA SPURTS

At any rate, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey immediately jumped into action. Next day, Sunday, Bob Woodruff, head of the giant Coca-Cola company, most important business in Atlanta, suddenly came to Washington. He had Sunday lunch with Senator George.

Bob Woodruff usually spends his time in New York or Sea Island, Ga. He does not come to Washington much on Sunday. He also golfs with Ike at August and helped promote the Augusta cottage for the President. Nominally a Democrat, he is one of Ike's good friends, and one of the heaviest and most consistent backers of Senator George.

After that Sunday luncheon,
Senator George of Georgia deserted his fellow Democrats and went over to the Republicans.

Note — Another Democrat who voted Republican on the tax bill was soft-spoken Sen. Spessard Holland of Florida. Though Dulles interests maintain a special lobby in the Carlton hotel to influence senators and congressmen, but they didn't really work on Holland. He generally votes Republican anyway.

WASHINGTON PIPE LINE

Nothing like being early, says
Senator George Bender of Ohio.
He's already invited President
Eisenhower to attend the 1959 Pan-American Athletic Games in Cleveland. Ike has accepted.
(Does that mean he's going to run again?) . . . Secretary of State Dulles is now sorting through the Cairo and Casablanca conference papers, preparing to publish them along with Tehran and Potsdam records. . . Most explosive papers of all, however, will be ten volumes on Chinese-American relations. In this case, Dulles is showing more consideration for Chiang Kai-Shek than Prime Minister Churchill and is letting Chiang clear the papers before publication. . . Democratic as well as GOP colleagues are urging GOP Congressman Pat Kearney of Gloversville, N. Y., (glove capitol of the world) to reconsider his announced retirement from Congress. The veteran New Yorker, now 65 years old, is one of the ablest and most hard-working legislators in the House. . .

Approve $51,000 To Repay Man for 17 Years in Prison

SPRINGFIELD (U—) An Illinois
Senate committee has okayed the payment of $51,000 to a Chicagoan for the 17 years he spent in prison for a murder he didn't commit.

The Appropriations Committee
Monday approved the bill for Earl Howard, with the provision that further testimony be taken on the matter when the bill reaches the Senate floor.

Howard told the committee he was arrested in Chicago in 1936 for the murder of a William Hayes,
"a man I've never seen even yet."
He was convicted and sentenced to life at Stateville Prison. In 1953, Howard said, he won a fight for a new trial, was acquitted and freed.

"I'm before you not as an enemy of the state, but as a citizen of Illinois," Howard said. "I ask that the state compensate me at least enough to allow me a new start in life."

The committee approved bills to spend $1,095,000 to rehabilitate the state Capitol, $235,000 for secretaries to Illinois Supreme Court justices, $15,000 to study problems of the aged, and $10,000 to study tax foreclosure and tax sale conditions.

In Loving Memory of MASON LOVE,
who died March 29, 1947:
At eve when twilight hours draw near,
And sunset flames the sky,
We think of you, dear Daddy,
And the happy days gone by.
Thoughts of you come drifting back
Within our dreams to stay,
To know that you are resting
When twilight ends the day.

Senate Passes First of Broyles Bills by 31-16 Vote

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—The Illinois Senate today passed the first of the hotly debated Broyles "anti-Communist" bills.
The vote for the bill was 31-16, with 26 votes needed for passage.
Two hours of spirited debate preceded the vote on the first of the two bills, which Mount Vernon Republican Sen. Paul Broyles has tried in vain to enact since shortly after World War II.
They seemed assured of Senate passage, well in advance of the vote. Each bill bore 26 sponsors, equal to the number of votes required for passage of bills in the Senate.

The first bill would prohibit the payment of a salary to any Illinois public employee, state or local, unless he swore to an affidavit that he was not a Communist or affiliated with a subversive organization.

Broyles' second bill would make it a felony to join or remain a member of an organization defined as subversive after next Jan. 1. The bill includes the U. S. attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

Under the second bill, any government employee who belonged to an organization deemed subversive would be automatically dismissed. He could get a court review of the dismissal, however.

House Passes Bill Including More Farm Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic 84th Congress, like its Republican predecessor, seemed bent today on forcing President Eisenhower to spend more money than he wants to on farm programs.

The House late Monday passed an Agriculture Department appropriations bill which would authorize future outlays totaling about 100 million dollars more than Mr. Eisenhower had requested.

The bill was approved without audible dissent, and no attempt was made to amend it. It now goes to the Senate which is expected to trim it little, if any. In the two previous years, Congress also voted more farm funds than Mr. Eisenhower sought.

The House-approved bill would provide $878,625,391 in direct cash and 388 million dollars in lending authority for the fiscal year starting July 1. It also carried an advance authorization, or commitment, for an appropriation of 250 million dollars next year for 1956 soil conservation subsidies.

Compared with the administration's recommendations, the bill provided increases of $16,575,476 in direct cash, 11 million dollars in lending authority, and 75 million dollars in advance conservation authorization.

Runaway Plane Kills Instructor, Hits Snack Bar

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP)—A runaway C-46 transport plane smashed a jet trainer to pieces today, killing a flight instructor, then careened in flames into a snack bar occupied by several Air Force personnel.

Col. John Chick, commanding officer of Greenville Air Force base, said the instructor of the T-33 jet trainer was killed as he stood beside his plane and four other men were hurt. None of the men in the building was hurt seriously.

Chick said the big transport plane, here from Floyd Bennett Air Force base in New York, was being warmed up by its crew chief, who suffered a fractured shoulder in the accident.

The dead instructor was identified as 1st Lt. Robert M. Pierce. His hometown was not available.

Two men in the snack shop along the base flight line were treated for minor injuries, along with a student pilot standing beside Pierce.

To Propose Amendment To State Constitution To Permit Income Tax

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Democrats said they would introduce an amendment to the Illinois Constitution today that would rewrite the revenue article and permit a state income tax.

Chief sponsor of the proposal submitted to the Illinois House was Rep. Alan J. Dixon, Belleville. He was joined by Minority Leader James J. Ryan, Chicago, Minority Whip Clyde L. Choate, Anna, and other Democrats.

There are other proposals for a new revenue article before the Legislature, but they would specifically ban an income tax. Dixon said he believes the constitutional amendment should be written so a future Legislature could impose an income tax if it desired.

They adjourned to the manager's office, just inside the lobby. There, Mr. Whittlesey said, "I did not know Mr. Smithson too well. He was one of our younger members, only a short while out of Harover. And you know young men. High spirits and all that. Of course a Harover man knows how to drink; still at that age." Mr. Whittlesey smiled indulgently. "You have to make certain allowances." "Smithson drank too much," Johnny asked. "Oh no, sir, I did not mean to imply that." "When Mr. Smithson disappeared, did he give up his room?" "No, he did not. We ask our resident members to notify us when they intend to be gone from their rooms any length of time, but Mr. Smithson neglected to do that. We held his room, just as it was, for some time and then we removed his effects." "Ah, yes," said Johnny. "I want to ask you about that. Who removed his effects?" "One of our porters. Naturally, I supervised the operation." "Good. Now, think a moment, what was your impression at the time? I mean, had Mr. Smithson taken any effects with him—clothing, personal belongings—?" "I don't have to think about that. I recall distinctly that I was rather surprised at the time. His room was exactly as if he'd gone out for an evening and had not returned. His clothing, all of it, as nearly as I could determine, was in his room. Except for what he was wearing, naturally. His shaving gear, even his toothbrush, was in his room. That was all the proof I needed. Mr. Smithson did not disappear of his own free will." "Don't think over my next question, Mr. Whittlesey. You've had all these years to form an opinion. Just give me that opinion, upon impulse. What do you think happened to Mr. Smithson when he walked out of this club 12 years ago?" Mr. Whittlesey did not respond properly to Johnny's question. "Something happened to him, that's all I'm certain about. He was involved in an accident, or—or he was a victim of amnesia." "Because he was experiencing an emotional disturbance—his feud with young Carmichael?" "No, sir, I did not mean to imply that." "You wouldn't go so far as to say then that Mr. Smithson might have been murdered?" Mr. Whittlesey cried out in horror. "Oh, no... Not—murder!" "Let me try this for size, Mr. Whittlesey. You will concede that there was bad blood between Jess Carmichael and his cousin?" "They were young, Mr. Carmichael was a bit, well, hot-tempered." "All right, Smithson went off. He laid low, waiting his time—his opportunity. At long last he found it—and killed Jess Carmichael!" "He waited 12 years, sir?" "After 12 years no one would suspect him. He could wait another year, or two, then make his reappearance and say he'd been in the Belgian Congo, hunting gorillas, or prospecting for uranium. Or he could say he'd been a victim of amnesia all these years and that he suddenly recovered and found himself working as a clerk in a Carmichael grocery store." "I'm afraid that that is stretching credulity a little too far." "Well, try this one. Smithson had a fight with Jess on the day of his disappearance. Later that day he told Don Wheelwright about it. He worked himself up to a fine frenzy and went to have it out, once and for all, with young Jess. They had it out and Smithson lost." Johnny paused significantly. "Carmichael killed him!" "Oh, no!" Mr. Whittlesey cried out, aghast. Johnny shrugged. "I've given you your choice of several theories. You don't like any of them. You try one. What about Jess Carmichael?" "I should think," Mr. Whittlesey said stiffly, "that should be obvious. Young Mr. Carmichael got involved with a—a woman." "One of the neighbors heard the shot after she'd left the apartment. Some minutes later." Mr. Whittlesey hesitated. "Perhaps someone entered her apartment after she left?" A man named Harry Flanagan, for instance? "Flanagan? I don't believe I know the name." "A hoodlum, a no-good—perhaps a gigolo." "Ah, yes!" "Perhaps he was afraid his meal ticket was going to be punched out on him. Perhaps he was—jealous—if such creatures can be jealous." "Do the—the police know about this Flanagan?" "No." "There is such a person?" "There is." "Then," said the club manager firmly, "I believe the police should be informed of him. That is by far them ost likely prospect of all." "There's only one thing wrong with that," Johnny said doggedly. "I'm not engaged to find the murderer of Jess Carmichael the Third. My job's to find Lester Smithson—or what happened to him, if he is dead." "I'm afraid I've told you as much as I know." (To Be Continued)

Oliver, Bevo Francis Sign New Contracts With Boston Whirlwinds

RIO GRANDE, Ohio —Coach Newt Oliver and "a much better" center Clarence (Bevo) Francis mailed in their contracts today for another winter of professional basketball with the Boston Whirlwinds.

Oliver said he would get $13,000 and Francis $17,000, the same as they earned during the 153-game western tour which ended Saturday night at Jackson, Mich.

The small, talkative coach said Francis averaged 43 points a game against local teams and the Harlem Globetrotters, and "could have scored a lot more points" but he was used only 25 or 30 minutes a night.

The sensational center had a 50-point average in his freshman year and a 46.5-point average his second year before he dropped out of school at tiny Rio Grande college here.

Francis then weighed 185 pounds, but ate heartily during the 35,000-mile tour of all the states west of the Mississippi and tipped the scales at 225 pounds at the end of his first pro season.

"The trip has improved Bevo a lot," Oliver said. "He is more well rounded and everybody says he's turning into a much better ball player."

The coach of one of the exhibition teams owned by Abe Saperstein of Chicago said Francis had improved under the boards and was "a lot better" on defense.

"He tips in the ball a lot better and since he is much bigger, he doesn't get knocked around so much," Oliver said. "The other

The Harrisburg Stars, successors to the Harrisburg Nash baseball club, will start practice today. The opening practice session is listed for 5 p. m. at the town park diamond.

GOOD BEGINNING
Norman, Okla. —(NEA)—Although this is the first year Oklahoma has had an intercollegiate boxing team, six amateur champions are in the Sooner lineup.

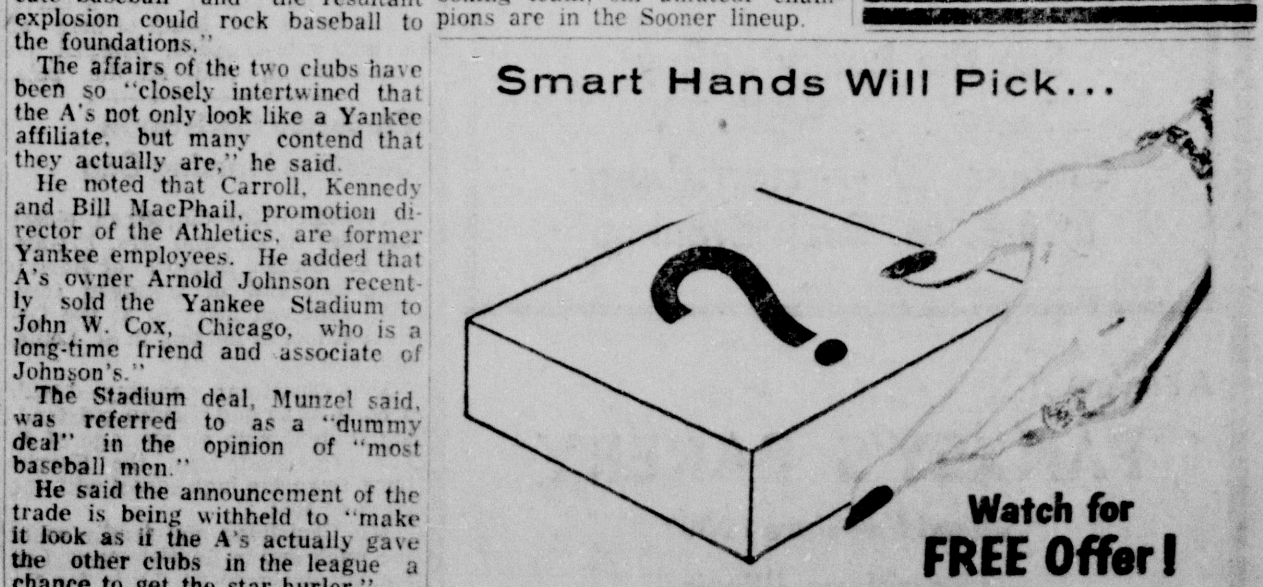

The affairs of the two clubs have been so "closely intertwined that the A's not only look like a Yankee affiliate, but many contend that they actually are," he said.

He noted that Carroll, Kennedy and Bill MacPhail, promotion director of the Athletics, are former Yankee employees. He added that A's owner Arnold Johnson recently sold the Yankee Stadium to John W. Cox, Chicago, who is a long-time friend and associate of Johnson's.

The Stadium deal, Munzel said, was referred to as a "dummy deal" in the opinion of "most baseball men."

He said the announcement of the trade is being withheld to "make it look as if the A's actually gave the other clubs in the league a chance to get the star hurler."

Senate Democrats Test Idea of Hanging 'War Party' Label on GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats today gingerly tested the idea of hanging a "war party" label on their Republican colleagues.

The "war party" talk among Democrats grew out of weekend statements of Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland and Chairman Styles Bridges of the Senate GOP Policy Committee. Both made clear their belief that the United States should join in the defense of Quemoy and the Matsu Islands, held by the Chinese Nationalists, if the Chinese Communists attack those offshore outposts.

Pressure On President? Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, without naming the GOP leaders, needed them for allegedly trying to pressure President Eisenhower, Johnson said. The country wants neither a "war party" nor an "appeasement party."

"I think perhaps we've already got that war party," Sen. John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.), a Foreign Relations Committee member, told a reporter today. "The trail of events points pretty strongly to it."

He said Mr. Eisenhower had suggested the use of atomic tactical weapons in the Far East if hostilities developed and that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had cautioned the people to start thinking about war.

He then cited Knowland's and Bridges' weekend statements and Monday's demand by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Mr. Eisenhower announce whether Quemoy and the Matsus would be defended.

A Drift To War "There's the whole front — not just a group in the Republican Party," Sparkman said. "The drift to war is there and nobody can stop it except the President and his administration. It will be interesting to see who leads the parade."

Another Foreign Relations Committee member, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), said he thinks Bridges' and Knowland's statements came "strangely close to meeting that description of Sen. Johnson's."

"I think Sen. Johnson expressed it very well, if the shoe fits put it on," Humphrey said.

"I think the administration has got to tell the American people clearly and forcefully where we stand in the Far East, what we are going to do, and then seek a coalition of support in Congress without appealing the forces that openly challenge the established foreign policy."

Tells of Death Of Companion By 'Black Damp'

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Andrew Yuengel, 61, told today of the terrible last moments of a companion who tried to flee from the death of the "black damp."

Yuengel, of Belleville, said he and Arthur Kaemmerer, 45, went down into the abandoned Little Oak coal mine near here Monday to salvage mine equipment.

Kaemmerer lived in a house-trailer at the edge of the mine entrance.

Yuengel said they were working on the equipment when they noticed the deadly mine gas in the air.

They donned their oxygen masks and continued working until they suddenly noticed their oxygen was gone.

Yuengel said they began to retrace their steps, but that Kaemmerer became frightened and ran ahead, groping blindly for the entrance to the mine and fresh air.

Proceeding slowly, Yuengel found Kaemmerer's body about 400 feet from where they were working. Mine rescue squads recovered the body several hours later.

Fred Lippert, Illinois state mine inspector, said both men violated a written and oral order not to go down into the mine until he had inspected it.

Mt. Vernon Boy Is Killed in Crash

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — A speeding car driven by a 15-year-old boy smashed into a power pole near here Monday night, killing one boy and injuring two others.

Richard Sheridan, 15, was killed. In critical condition at a hospital here is the driver, Bob Deitz. Another passenger, 15-year-old Nicky Shoemaker, escaped serious injury. All three boys are from Mount Vernon.

Deputy Sheriff John Richardson said the car left Ill. 37 on a curve about two miles south of here at a high rate of speed, jumped an embankment, and hit the pole.

Charges Dismissed When Mt. Vernon Mayor Refuses to Testify

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP) — Citizens of Mount Vernon may never know whether their fire chief helped two firemen drop sugar into the mayor's gas tank.

The intriguing charges were dismissed Monday when Mayor O. R. Buford refused to testify before an official who wouldn't disqualify himself.

Buford demanded the disqualification of Bryan Dycus, acting chairman of the city fire and police commission hearing the case, because Dycus had "prior knowledge of facts which were to be produced as evidence."

Dycus said no, he wouldn't step down. Buford replied "As far as I am concerned the case is finished."

Buford had charged that Fire Chief Julius Lustig and firemen Pearl McGeehee and Jack Cain were responsible for the offense, which occurred in February, 1951, before Buford's election as mayor.
